Dear Mr. Healy:

Statesboro Young Life has sent this press kit to provide you with information on our multicultural ministry. Young Life has been “introducing adolescents to Jesus Christ and helping them grow in their faith,” since 1939 and serving Bulloch County for over 10 years. This organization is for high school students throughout the city of Statesboro, which would be an excellent story opportunity for your paper to cover.

Young Life is present in South East Bulloch High School, Statesboro High School, and Bulloch Academy where 28 college-age volunteer leaders meet kids where they are at school lunches and events. Leaders host club for high school students every Monday at 7:57 p.m. at the Robbin’s Nest and hang out with kids throughout the week. Club is controlled chaos with skits, singing, and short talks about the gospel in an environment where kids can be themselves — making it the “best night of the week.”

Young Life complements the work of local churches through contact work, club, Campaigners, and camp, reaching kids who might not attend activities at a local church. Statesboro has a local committee comprised of parents, Young Life alumni, and civic leaders who provide a foundation of financial, administrative, and moral support for the local Young Life team. Young Life also provides a rewarding leadership opportunity for Georgia Southern University students.

The contents of this press kit will guide you in writing an impeccable story for the Statesboro Herald. Enclosed are facts about our organization, press releases about Statesboro Young Life, photos with captions, and many other items that will aid you in your coverage. To contact Statesboro Young Life for more information, please contact me at (678) 687-4184 or any member at (912) 764-5433.

Sincerely,
