Statesboro Young Life Fact Sheet

- Young Life has been “introducing adolescents to Jesus Christ and helping them grow in their faith,” since 1939 when Jim Rayburn founded the organization.
- Statesboro Young Life is located in a 2,041-square-foot home in downtown Statesboro and has been serving Bulloch County for over 10 years.
- Young Life is present in South East Bulloch High School, Statesboro High School, and Bulloch Academy where 28 college-age volunteer leaders meet kids where they are, known as contact work.
- Club is held every Monday at 7:57 p.m. at The Robbin’s Nest. It’s controlled chaos with skits, singing, and short talks about the gospel in an environment where kids can be themselves — making it the “best night of the week.”
- High schoolers who want to grow in their faith attend “Campaigners,” a weekly gathering where kids learn through bible study, prayer, and relationships.
- Statesboro Young Life takes kids to camp twice a year, where kids can get away from the pressures of everyday life, have fun with their friends and Young Life leaders, and hear the message of God’s love in terms they can understand.
- Young Life complements the work of local churches through contact work, club, Campaigners, and camp, reaching kids who might not attend activities at a local church.
- Statesboro has a local committee comprised of parents, Young Life alumni, and civic leaders who provide a foundation of financial, administrative, and moral support for the local Young Life team.
